Salary:

G5

Contract:

Permanent

Location:

Cambridge

Faculty / Department:

Office of the School of Clinical Medicine

Responsible to:

Head of the Postgraduate Education and Clinical Academic Training Section

Working Pattern:

Part Time – 0.5 FTE. This position is to provide maternity cover for a maximum of 1 year or the return of the post-holder, whichever is the earliest.

Purpose of the role

Provide administrative support for a number of post graduate funding and training programmes managed in the School of Clinical Medicine.

Key responsibilities

- Provide administrative support and management of a number of postgraduate funding programmes including management of: the National Institutes of Health Oxford-Cambridge, the Experimental Medicine Training Initiative and the Experimental Medicine Initiative to Explore New Therapies.
- Responsibilities include recruitment and admissions, student progress and location, research day events and student/programme activities, finance and expenditure, communication with internal and external partners, dealing with student issues and queries, updating and maintaining student records, secretariat to annual and monthly committee meetings.
- Provide a key point of contact for students, academic colleagues and colleagues from partner institutions, departments across the University and external partners and funders, in particular the Directors and governance committee members for the relevant funding and training programmes.
- Provide support to the Funding Programmes Manager and the other funding programmes administrators as required on other funding programmes, projects and tasks.
- Working with the Funding Programmes Manager and relevant academic director provide support in the bid preparation and potential subsequent set up of operating and governance process for new funding or training programmes.
- Provide administrative support, as required, across other administrative activities within the Postgraduate Education and Clinical Academic Training section activities.
- Contribute communications items, as required to promote the work of the relevant programmes.

The role requires an effective administrator who is a confident communicator and able to work independently and with initiative.

The role sits within the Postgraduate Education and Clinical Academic Training (PECAT) section within the School of Clinical Medicine. PECATS has a broad remit which includes: the co-ordination of activities for doctors on a clinical academic training pathway; administration of a number of University postgraduate funding and training programmes; and oversight of postgraduate student progress across the numerous different University departments and institutes which exist within the School of Clinical Medicine.

Responsibilities

The role-holder will be responsible for a large number of postgraduate students over currently three postgraduate funding and training programmes and be required to manage a varied and complex workload. The success of the programmes are reliant on good relationships between the programme partners, external funders and colleagues at all levels within the University and partner organisations and a key part of this role will be managing these complex relationships.

The role holder will be expected to have strong, all-round, administrative experience and be able to deliver on programme expectations and targets, which will enable them to fulfil all aspects of the role. This will include (but is not restricted to) overseeing recruitment processes, acting as secretary for the programmes' committees, liaising with programme directors, resolving student queries and issues, monitoring finance and expenditure, developing information and support for students, updating website pages, virtual learning platforms and databases, and delivering events.

Communication Skills, Negotiating and Influencing

The role holder will be the first point of contact for a wide variety of partners and colleagues in connection with the funding and training programmes being administered and be able to effectively communicate, negotiate and influence a variety of stakeholders, providing guidance and advice to committees and programme directors, as well as communicating with senior academics and teams throughout the University, external partners, teams, colleagues and contacts.

Relationship building, Innovation and Change

The role-holder should be an effective team-player: flexible and willing to provide support across the whole office team as required. The role holder should be able to develop and promote new ways of working to improve efficiencies and deliver of PECATS responsibilities.

Other

The role holder will be required to provide support to the Funding Programme Manager, Head of PECATS, other funding programme administrators and colleagues in the wider PECATS office as required.

The University

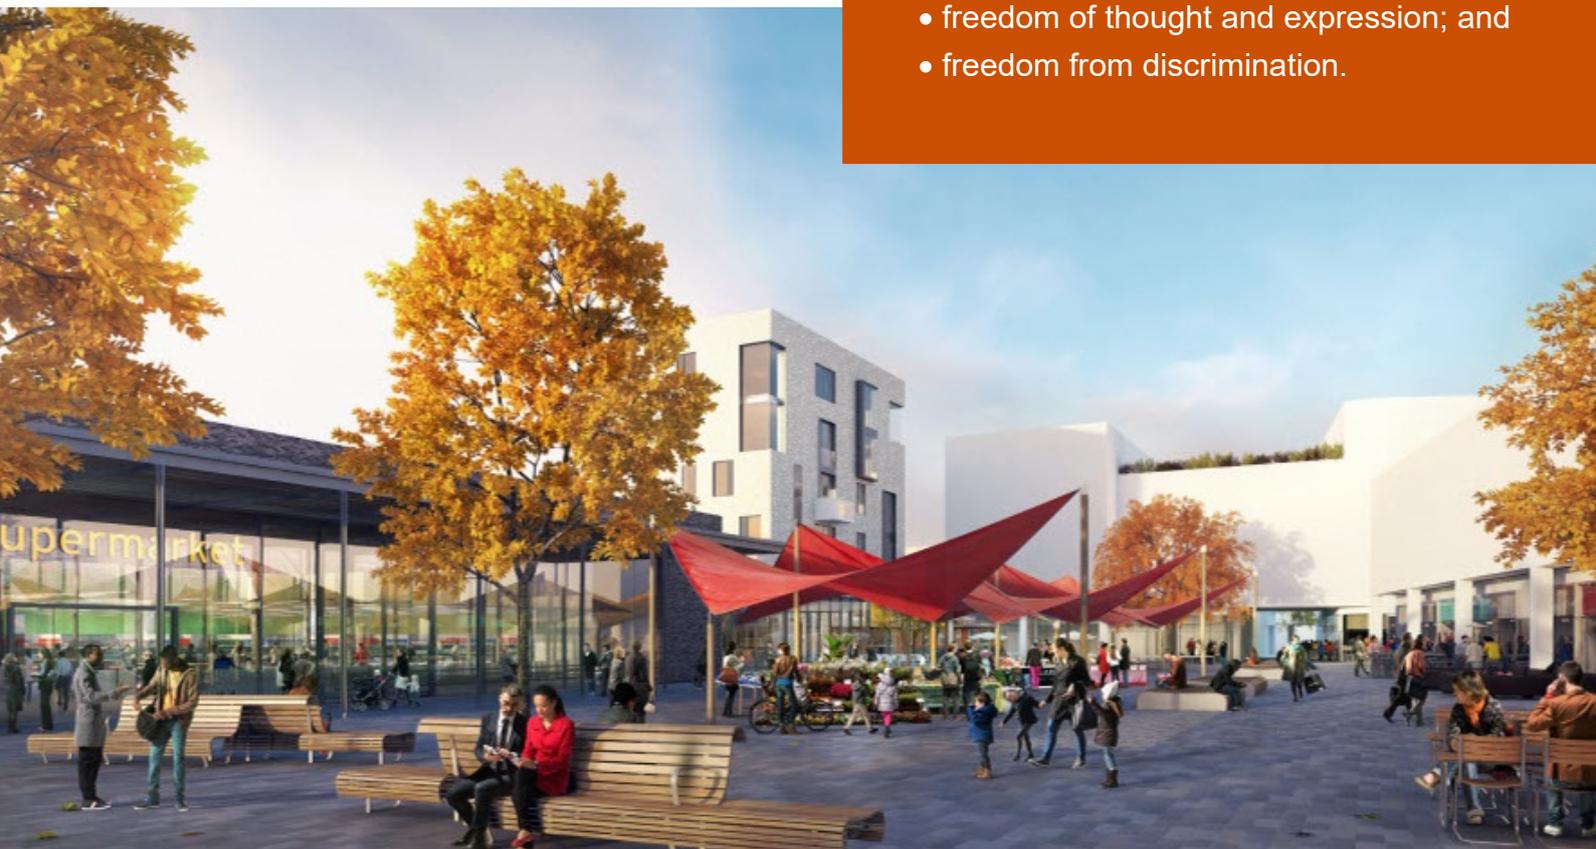

The University of Cambridge is one of the world's oldest and most successful universities. We are a renowned centre for research, education, and scholarship that makes a significant contribution to society. The University is consistently ranked amongst the top universities in the world. Our affiliates have won more Nobel Prizes than any other University.

Our sustained pursuit of academic excellence is built on a long history of world-leading teaching and research within a distinctive collegiate system. For eight centuries our ideas and innovations have shaped the world. Our principal goal is to remain one of the world's leading universities in an increasingly competitive global higher education sector. Today the University of Cambridge is at the centre of a cluster of over 4,300 businesses employing 58,000 people.

Our capital investment projects include academic and commercial growth at both the West Cambridge Innovation District, and the Biomedical Campus in the south of the city. Eddington, in North West Cambridge, is a mixed-use development including key worker housing for staff, a community centre and a new primary school, managed by the University. Through these projects, the University is deeply embedded in, and committed to serving, our local community. These are all conspicuous signs of a University that is not only adapting to new needs, but also anticipating the future.

Our mission is to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning, and research at the highest international levels of excellence. Our core values are:

- freedom of thought and expression; and
- freedom from discrimination.

About Us

The University is one of the world's leading academic centres. It comprises 150 faculties and departments, together with a central administration and other institutions. Our institutions, museums and collections are a world-class resource for researchers, students and members of the public representing one of the country's highest concentrations of internationally important collections.

The University has an annual income of £2 billion. Research income, won competitively from the UK Research Councils, the European Union (EU), major charities and industry, exceeds £500 million per annum and continues to grow.

The Colleges and the University remain committed to admitting the best students regardless of their background and to investing considerable resources both in widening access and financial support. The 31 Colleges are self-governing, separate legal entities which appoint their own staff. Many academic staff are invited to join a College as a Teaching Fellow, which provides a further social and intellectual dimension. The Colleges admit undergraduate students, provide student accommodation and pastoral support and deliver small group teaching for undergraduates.

The University awards degrees and its faculties and departments provide lectures and seminars for students and determine the syllabi for teaching.

Our instinct for seeking out excellence and setting up enduring and mutually beneficial collaborations has led us to establish strategic partnerships across the globe. Whether it is the successful Cambridge-Africa Programme involving universities in Ghana, Uganda and elsewhere on the African continent; or the close association with the government of India to pursue new research in crop science; or the creation, with Germany's Max Planck Institutes, of a Cambridge-based centre for the study of ethics, human economy and social change – international partnerships are now an inextricable part of the University's make-up.

“Cambridge graduates and researchers have made – and continue to make – a colossal contribution to human knowledge and the understanding of the world around us. Their work touches on the lives and livelihoods of everyone from patients diagnosed with life-threatening diseases, to residents of areas critically affected by climate change, to children growing up in conflict zones. It has a lasting impact on our society, our economy and our culture: the world is truly a better place thanks to their efforts.”

Stephen Toope, Vice Chancellor 2019

Working at the University

Working at Cambridge you will join a diverse, talented and innovative community, with more than 23,000 students and over 16,000 staff from all walks of life and corners of the world.

The University continually explores strategies to attract and retain the best people. It is committed to supporting its staff to achieve their best. We are a fair, diverse and inclusive society and we believe our staff are our greatest asset. There is strong commitment to developing institutional leadership and supporting and encouraging staff development at all levels.

We offer a variety of roles including academic, research, professional, managerial and support roles. We also offer extensive benefits and excellent learning opportunities within a stimulating working environment.

The University's estate is undergoing the most significant transformation in its history. Cambridge has been able to create a science and technology campus to the west of the city centre, and is expanding further to the north west of Cambridge including investing in affordable homes for University key workers and community facilities. Even with our continued development, the University remains within walking or cycling distance across the campus. The University is a major partner on the Cambridge Biomedical Campus and we continue to redevelop our historic city centre sites demonstrating our determination to ensure that we can offer the best facilities and opportunities for our staff and students.

Equality & diversity

The University has built its excellence on the diversity of its staff and student community. We aim to be a leader in fostering equality and inclusion, and in promoting respect and a sense of belonging for all. We encourage applications from all sections of society. All appointments are made on the basis of merit. We have an Equal Opportunities Policy, along with a range of diversity groups, including the Women's Staff Network, Race Equality Network and LGBT+ Staff Network. More details are available here:

<http://www.equality.admin.cam.ac.uk/>

The University has a bronze Race Equality Charter award, with a framework for improving the representation, progression and success of minority ethnic staff and students within higher education. Furthermore, the University's silver Athena swan award recognises and celebrates good practice in recruiting, retaining and promoting gender equality.

Living in Cambridge

Cambridge is rich in cultural diversity. From beautiful University and College buildings, museums and art galleries, quaint gardens and punts on the River Cam, to a vibrant restaurant and café scene, our employees are surrounded by the wonderful features of this unique city.

You can find a wide-range of high street shops and 3 shopping centres, with independent alternatives at the historic market and nestled within the passageways in the city centre. You will find a cinema, bowling alley, a nightclub and various live performances at the Cambridge Leisure Park, with further entertainment options at the Corn Exchange, Arts Theatre and the ADC Theatre. Further information can be found on the Visit Cambridge website.

If you prefer the faster pace of life, London is a 45 minute train journey away. For those travelling from overseas, Stansted Airport is just 45 minutes away and Heathrow Airport under 2 hours away. The University is a short distance from a host of other attractions such as Ely Cathedral, Newmarket Races and various wildlife parks and stately homes. Cambridge is also within easy reach of the beautiful Broads and coastlines of Norfolk and Suffolk.

Relocation Support

The University recognises the importance of helping individuals to move and settle into a new area. We provide support and guidance to those relocating internationally or domestically to take up a post at the University of Cambridge, liaising with other University offices and selected partners to ensure comprehensive relocation support is available. This includes: accommodation, childcare, schools, banking, immigration and transport. If you would like further information, please visit <https://www.accommodation.cam.ac.uk/RelocationService/>. The Shared Equity Scheme and the Reimbursement of Relocation Expenses Scheme provide financial assistance to qualifying new members of staff with the costs of relocating to Cambridge.

Accommodation Service

The University Accommodation Service helps staff, students and visiting scholars who are affiliated to the University in their search for suitable accommodation in Cambridge. The dedicated accommodation team can provide access to a wide range of University-owned furnished and unfurnished properties, and has a database of private sector accommodation available for short and long-term lets. For further information and to register with this free service please visit <https://www.accommodation.cam.ac.uk/>

What Cambridge can offer

We offer a comprehensive reward package to attract, motivate and retain high performing staff at all levels and in all areas of work.

The University offers a wide range of competitive benefits, from family leave entitlement, to shopping and travel discount schemes. Our generous annual leave package contributes to the positive wellbeing of our University employees. Sabbatical leave enables academics to focus on research and scholarship, whilst still maintaining their full salary. The University also has a career break scheme for academic and academic-related staff, with additional flexible working policies for all other staff.

Pay and benefits

The University salary structure includes automatic service-related pay progression in many of its grades and an annual cost of living increase. In addition to this, employees are rewarded for outstanding contribution through a number of regular pay progression schemes. The University offers attractive pensions schemes for employees, with an additional benefit of a salary exchange arrangement providing tax and national insurance savings.

CAMbens employee benefits

The University offers employees a wide range of competitive benefits, known as CAMbens. CAMbens offers something for everyone across a range of categories, including:
