Biofacility Manager / NACWO (Experimental Barrier)

Salary: £41,421 - £55,295

Contract: Permanent

Location: Cambridge

Faculty / Department:

University Biomedical Services

Responsible to:

Deputy Director of Operations and Facilities

Working Pattern: Full Time

Purpose of the Role

This vital role ensures the effective operation and management of the Experimental Barrier facility within the University Biomedical Services division, facilitating the University's research objectives while maintaining exemplary standards in animal care, welfare, and compliance with Home Office regulations.

The role holder is a Named Animal Care and Welfare Officer (NACWO), as named on the University of Cambridge Home Office Establishment Licence, overseeing the regulated and non-regulated work conducted within the facility.

The role holder will lead a team of approximately 30 staff, including three Deputy Biofacility Managers / NACWOs, to deliver high-quality services to internal and external users.

The Biofacility Manager / NACWO plays a key role in harmonising operational practices, ensuring legal compliance, and driving continuous improvements in welfare standards, promoting the ethical use of animals in research. As the senior leader within the facility, they oversee the development and implementation of strategic initiatives, policies, and day-to-day operations to support cutting-edge biomedical research.

Key Responsibilities

- Provide leadership across the Experimental Barrier facility, fostering collaboration and teamwork.
- Uphold compliance with all legislative requirements; the Animals (Scientific Procedures) Act 1986, Home Office regulations, and University policies.
- Act as a key point of contact for researchers, providing expert guidance and ensuring optimal resource allocation.
- Drive strategic planning to support future research needs and regulatory changes.
- Promote staff development and ensure robust training frameworks for technical and research staff.

Staff Management and Support

Recruit, organise, motivate and manage staff, creating work schedules and assignments for technicians according to workload, space and equipment availability.

Be responsible for ensuring sufficient competent staff cover to care for animals at all times, including weekends and out of hours.

Be a first point of contact for staff grievance and disciplinary matters; resolving minor issues and referring serious cases as appropriate.

Staff Management and Support continued

Induct personnel, contractors and visitors highlighting working practices, expected standards, record keeping, Home Office guidelines and the use of equipment ensuring the health, safety and security of the facility.

Supervise, evaluate and optimise all husbandry, technical, equipment and building maintenance activities within the facility.

NACWO

Undertake the role of a NACWO for the day-to-day care of the animals with responsibility under the Animals Scientific Procedures (Act) 1986 for regulated and non-regulated projects conducted within the facility.

Attend and contribute to appropriate meetings (e.g. Facility User Committee, Animal Welfare and Ethical Review Body (AWERB)).

Compile and report necessary information and documents, such as usage figures, and consumable usage in relation to facility expenditure, and technical knowledge as a Named Person for the University.

Facility Administration

Manage administrative processes within the facility including monitoring stocking densities, equipment and consumable use, procedure room use, and staffing levels to ensure effective use of resources, space, equipment and services.

Ensure that research groups are charged appropriately.

Maintain adequate supplies of consumables and process orders as necessary.

Liaison with Research Users

Be a first point of contact for all facility users; provide advice on queries relating to Home Office regulations and assess Study Plans to ensure appropriate allocation of resources, as well as legislative compliance.

Liaise between facility users and technical staff to support researcher requirements and resolve complex issues.

Health and Safety

Ensure the health, safety and security of the facility by implementing and reviewing safety documentation, including Standard Operating Procedures, COSHH and risk assessments.

Carry out routine monitoring of the fabric of the facility and animal equipment ensuring legislative compliance, appropriate maintenance and liaison with building services personnel where necessary.

The University

The University of Cambridge is consistently ranked one of the best universities in the world, achieving academic excellence through its Faculties, Departments and other Institutions, together with the 31 Colleges.

The University is renowned for its record of discovery and innovation. It is one of the great institutions, with a regional, national and global reach, attracting the very best and brightest minds. Our staff and students shape the world around us for the better: we attract and partner with like-minded people.

Whether contributing to the development of new anti-cancer drugs, adding to the understanding of how black holes are formed, revolutionising the study of ancient settlements, convening academic expertise to offer solutions to the climate crisis, or analysing public attitudes towards democracy around the world, the University's research is remarkable in its breadth, quality and impact. The University also sits at the heart of Europe's largest technology cluster and has catalysed more than 1,500 high-tech companies. And yet what inspires our 24,000 students and 13,000 staff is not what has already been achieved, but what is possible in the future.

The education and experience of our students, based on a partnership between the University's academic Departments and Faculties and the 31 Colleges, is second to none. Every student is a member of one of the Colleges, each a community of students, academics and staff drawn from across the University's comprehensive range of subject areas.

The University is a self-governing community, with a system for decision-making that provides a high degree of accountability and transparency to its members. Each Department and Faculty is part of one of six academic Schools, but each of them, and each individual academic, has a great deal of autonomy. The Colleges are independent and selfgoverning, working in a symbiotic relationship with the University.

The University has a number of Institutions that are independent of any Faculty or Department and are not part of the academic Schools. These include the Institute of Continuing Education (which provides high-quality education to adults throughout their lives), the Fitzwilliam Museum, Kettle's Yard (an historic house and gallery that holds important collections of modern art) and the University Library. In addition to their diverse contributions to University and public life, these non-School Institutions are also important centres of teaching and research.

Cambridge University Press & Assessment provides academic publishing, examinations and learning materials worldwide, supporting the dissemination of research, academic development at school and in higher education, and international student mobility. Legally, the Press & Assessment is a department of the University. It provides very important funds to invest in the academic purposes of the University. The University has made truly remarkable contributions to the sum of human understanding, with breakthrough ideas and discoveries that have changed the way we understand ourselves, our planet, and the universe around us. Yet the global and national contexts in which it operates are fast-changing and increasingly filled with uncertainty. In a world that is becoming - politically, economically, socially, and technologically - ever more interconnected but even less equal, the University's mission - "to contribute to society through the pursuit of education, learning and research at the highest international levels of excellence" - has never been more relevant.

About Us

The University is one of the world's leading academic centres. It comprises 150 faculties and departments, together with a central administration and other institutions. Our institutions, museums and collections are a world-class resource for researchers, students and members of the public representing one of the country's highest concentrations of internationally important collections.

The University has an annual income of £2 billion. Research income, won competitively from the UK Research Councils, the European Union (EU), major charities and industry, exceeds £500 million per annum and continues to grow.

The Colleges and the University remain committed to admitting the best students regardless of their background and to investing considerable resources both in widening access and financial support. The 31 Colleges are self-governing, separate legal entities which appoint their own staff. Many academic staff are invited to join a College as a Teaching Fellow, which provides a further social and intellectual dimension. The Colleges admit undergraduate students, provide student accommodation and pastoral support and deliver small group teaching for undergraduates. The University awards degrees and its faculties and departments provide lectures and seminars for students and determine the syllabi for teaching.

Our instinct for seeking out excellence and setting up enduring and mutually beneficial collaborations has led us to establish strategic partnerships across the globe. Whether it is the successful Cambridge-Africa Programme involving universities in Ghana, Uganda and elsewhere on the African continent; or the close association with the government of India to pursue new research in crop science; or the creation, with Germany's Max Planck Institutes, of a Cambridge-based centre for the study of ethics, human economy and social change – international partnerships are now an inextricable part of the University's make-up.

"Through its outstanding education, research and innovation, the University of Cambridge has made – and continues to make – a lasting contribution to human knowledge and is flourishing. By working at the University of Cambridge, you will be joining a vibrant community of students, scholars and professional services staff committed to supporting and enhancing the University's mission to contribute to society."

Professor Deborah Prentice,

Vice Chancellor 2023

Working at the University

Working at Cambridge you will join a diverse, talented and innovative community, with more than 24,000 students and over 13,000 staff from all walks of life and corners of the world.

The University continually explores strategies to attract and retain the best people. It is committed to supporting its staff to achieve their best. We are a fair, diverse and inclusive society and we believe our staff are our greatest asset. There is strong commitment to developing institutional leadership and supporting and encouraging staff development at all levels.

The University offers a variety of roles including academic, research, professional, managerial and support roles. We also offer extensive benefits and excellent learning opportunities within a stimulating working environment.

Equality, Diversity and Inclusion

The University has built its excellence on the diversity of its staff and student community. We aim to be a leader in fostering equality and inclusion, and in promoting respect and a sense of belonging for all. We encourage applications from all sections of society. All appointments are made on the basis of merit. We have an Equal Opportunities Policy, along with a range of diversity groups, including the Women's Staff Network, Race Equality Network and LGBT+ Staff Network. More details are available here: http://www.equality.admin.cam.ac.uk/

The University's estate is undergoing the most significant transformation in its history. Cambridge has been able to create a science and technology campus to the west of the city centre, and is expanding further to the north west of Cambridge including investing in affordable homes for University key workers and community facilities. Even with their continued development, the University remains within walking or cycling distance across the campus. The University is a major partner on the Cambridge Biomedical Campus and continues to redevelop its historic city centre sites demonstrating a clear determination to ensure that we can offer the best facilities and opportunities for our staff and students.

The University has a bronze Race Equality Charter award, with a framework for improving the representation, progression and success of minority ethnic staff and students within higher education. Furthermore, the University's silver Athena swan award recognises and celebrates good practice in recruiting, retaining and promoting gender equality.

Living in Cambridge

Cambridge is rich in cultural diversity. From beautiful University and College buildings, museums and art galleries, quaint gardens and punts on the River Cam, to a vibrant restaurant and café scene, our employees are surrounded by the wonderful features of this unique city.

You can find a wide-range of high street shops and 3 shopping centres, with independent alternatives at the historic market and nestled within the passageways in the city centre. You will find a cinema, bowling alley, a nightclub and various live performances at the Cambridge Leisure Park, with further entertainment options at the Corn Exchange, Arts Theatre and the ADC Theatre. Further information can be found on the Visit Cambridge website.

If you prefer the faster pace of life, London is a 45-minute train journey away. For those travelling from overseas, Stansted Airport is just 45 minutes away and Heathrow Airport under 2 hours away. The University is a short distance from a host of other attractions such as Ely Cathedral, Newmarket Races and various wildlife parks and stately homes. Cambridge is also within easy reach of the beautiful Broads and coastlines of Norfolk and Suffolk.
